

By the 2:55 P. M. train or on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, by the 6 P. M. train, stopping at Dover over night, you can reach Altan Bay at 4:15 A. M.; Wolfboro at 5 P. M.; Center Harbor 1:30 P. M. The steamer then returns to Altan Bay at 7:30 A. M. and you can reach Portland, the same night.

If one has leisure time, no place in New England is so attractive and beautiful at high tide to pass the summer as Lake Winnipicogee and at Altan Bay, Wolfboro or Center Harbor, the hotels, cottages and farm houses afford excellent accommodations.

By this route only do you obtain a sail for the whole length of the Lake (30 miles), in miles more than by any other route. In these days of dry and dusty traveling, with est of water as Lake Winnepesaukee. Excursion tickets good for the month of August are now being issued by the different railroad and steamer lines to and from Portland and this gives every one a chance to visit all the seaside and mountain resorts this side of Boston, North and West at reduced rates. For the early morning train (6:45 A. M.) Portlanders are under great obligations to F. Chase, Esq., the enterprising Superintendent of the P. N. & P. railroad, for they will now be able to "do" Lake Winnepesaukee and return in one day.

The route above described is known as the Seaside and Maine route to the Lake and Mountains. Wm. Meritt, Esq., the worthy superintendent has now perfected arrangements so that no route is more popular and Mice and Fruit Trees. Every year a great many young trees are destroyed by these little rogues. How to preserve the trees from their sharp teeth is a question in which all fruit growers have a deep interest. Many remedies have been suggested and hardly any has worked a cure. One man has wrapped their trees with paper twine, plowed the ground late in the fall, and cleaned the grass carefully away from around the trees, and yet these remedies have proved successful, and the mice still girdle the trees. They will have a living if they get it, and no body can blame them for it. The writer in the Journal of Chemistry put white arsenic in the same manner, and readily would believe any other toxic drug would be equally successful.

near is his remedy. Take equal parts of water and fish-oil, mix together thoroughly warming; then take a brush and put the mixture upon the trees close to the ground to twelve or fifteen inches up around the body. It will not injure the trees, and there will be no more trouble with mice. He says he tried the experiment on fifty trees last winter, and it worked like a charm. His trees were never more thrifty than during the present season. The above remedy is not costly and easily obtained.

CHARLEVOIX'S HISTORY OF NEW FRANCE is written in French, but has recently been translated into the English language by J. C. M. Seymour, Esq., of New York, well known as a historical investigator and faithful trans-once claimed by the French in America; and therefore has an interest for the people of mine, whose fair field was once given by the English to the most zealous navigators of that nation, who were willing to explore our then unknown shores.

The learned author was successful in gathering into his volumes all that was to be found, material to his purpose, in the pages of antecedent writers, and thus produced a work which has always been referred to with respect, as an authority on the times and events relating to the period described. Heretofore his treasures have been looked for in a plain degree, in a foreign language. But Mr. Owen's love of history and his desire to see its truths spread around the community, have prompted him to present the work in a form accessible to the English reader. The price of the royal 8vo. edition is $6.00 per volume, of —Des Moines, Iowa, was, on Monday, greatly excited over the demolition, by a mob, of a house of ill-fame, within a mile of the city. A country girl, aged thirteen, was, on Thursday, decorated into the bargain. The farfetched story, some sixty strands thick, and made a rap! upon it, but did not find the girl's keeper and his bullies showed fight, whereas the "vigilante" turned men and women out of doors in their night clothes, when they burned the whole institution down to the ground. The building was new and well-funded. The loss is probably over $4,000.

—The famous new French journal, La Lanterne, is in the shape of a little book, with a very distinguishable red cover, and the contents are precisely those of a newspaper, cut out into pages, with the advertisements at the end.

Two crumpled hats, the wreck of a wagon, and what appeared to be brains, were found in the street of Trenton, N. J., early on a recent morning. There was intense excitement for a time, but an investigation proved that the sensation was produced by a mishap to the city poster, and the "brains" turned out to be

—Last year the deficiency in the Postoffice department was something over $3,000,000. This year it will reach nearly $5,000,000, owing principally to the reopening of routes in the north and the increase of ocean mail service.

—The Princess D'Ekmuhl, widow of Marshal Davoust, has presented to the Museum of Army, France, the sword which was worn by her husband at Aboiskir, Ulm and Austerlitz.

—The San Francisco Bulletin says the fruit crop of California was never finer in quality than this year. The quantity and variety than it is in summer. Many large growers intend to pay more attention to drying and packing for export this year. Railing prices are more reasonable to consumers, yet sufficiently profitable to producers. The experiment of shipping pears to Atlantic ports will be tried on a larger scale than last fall.

Now made from the starchy pulp of raw potatoes, which has been subjected for some days to a steady pressure. Artificial iron is made from turnips; and carrots macerated in a solution of soda, and then subjected to a strong pressure at a high temperature, furnish a very strong material.

—The inventor of a new style of horse-shoe is sent to a soliciting firm in New York a solid-made solid silver. The inventor lives in Colorado and could not afford to use iron.

—There is an evident determination to absolutism in India. For participating in recent widow burning cases, fourteen men were transported for life, thirty for ten years, and eleven are sentenced to five years' imprisonment.
